IMPORTANT NOTICE

In January 2014, the G.E.D. test will be updated and the present version will no longer be administered. If a G.E.D. candidate has not completed their G.E.D. by that date, their current scores will no longer be valid and they will need to retake the entire G.E.D.

FAQ

1. How do I create my account?
 - a. Go to www.GEDcomputer.com and select "Register Today." A new browser window will open—select "New Users Start Here." Follow the directions to create your own GED® testing account.
 - b. Contact Pearson VUE at 1-877-EXAM-GED or 1-877-392-6433, Monday through Friday, 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. CST.
2. Why are there two registration forms?
 - a. The first registration form is a standard GED Testing Service form that everyone must fill out to register for the test.
 - b. The second registration form contains registration questions that are specific to your jurisdiction.
3. Is there a study guide that I can practice from before I go in to test?
 - a. You can go online to www.GEDtestingservice.com/marketplace to find five different practice tests that were created by GED test developers. You choose the subject, you have over 1,000 practice questions to choose from and you can see which portions you need improvement on with their instant scoring.
4. Can I take a break during the test?
 - a. You will receive a 10-minute scheduled break between each module. Unscheduled breaks are not allowed and your results may be deemed invalid (you would have to retake the test).
